SITUATION SUMMARY

Derailment, UPRR, Turlock, Stanislaus County

- On 01/23/2016 at 0942 hours the California state warning Center received notification of a derailment from union Pacific Railroad (UPRR). Five railcars are confirmed to be derailed, three cars derailed upright and two cars derailed onto their side. The contents of the railcars is grain. The two cars on their side lost the grain inside due to the tops coming off and the amount is currently unknown. No waterways reported to be impacted by the derailments and release. No hazmat release and no injuries reported. All notifications have been made per SOP.

Coastal Erosion, Pacifica, San Mateo County

- Early last week coastal bluff erosion occurring between the areas of 1070 and 1115 Palmetto Avenue were noticed by the City of Pacifica. On Friday January 15th, Esplanade was yellow tagged due to proximity to the bluff edge and related erosion. On Sunday January 17th, a portion of the sea wall along Beach Blvd. near Santa Maria Ave. was undercut due to wave action and a portion of the sidewalk opened up. Beach Blvd. was closed to through traffic. On Friday January 22nd, the City Manager declared a local emergency. The Pacifica City Council is set to ratify the declaration at their regularly scheduled City Council meeting on Monday, January 25, 2016.
- Only one residence was red-tagged due to proximity to the bluff edge and related erosion. Residents impacted have accommodations elsewhere. The remainder of residences affected are yellow-tagged and residents are permitted to remain in their building until further notice. City has begun coordination with County Human Services Agency, Red Cross, Terra Nova and Oceana High Schools for possible sheltering if needed.
- No Operational Area or State resource requests at this time.
- Coastal Region continues to monitor the situation.

Weather of Concern

- High surf conditions are expected for the Central Coast through Saturday night, and through early Sunday morning for areas south of Point Conception.
- Potential beach erosion and coastal flooding of low-lying coastal areas

River Forecasts

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

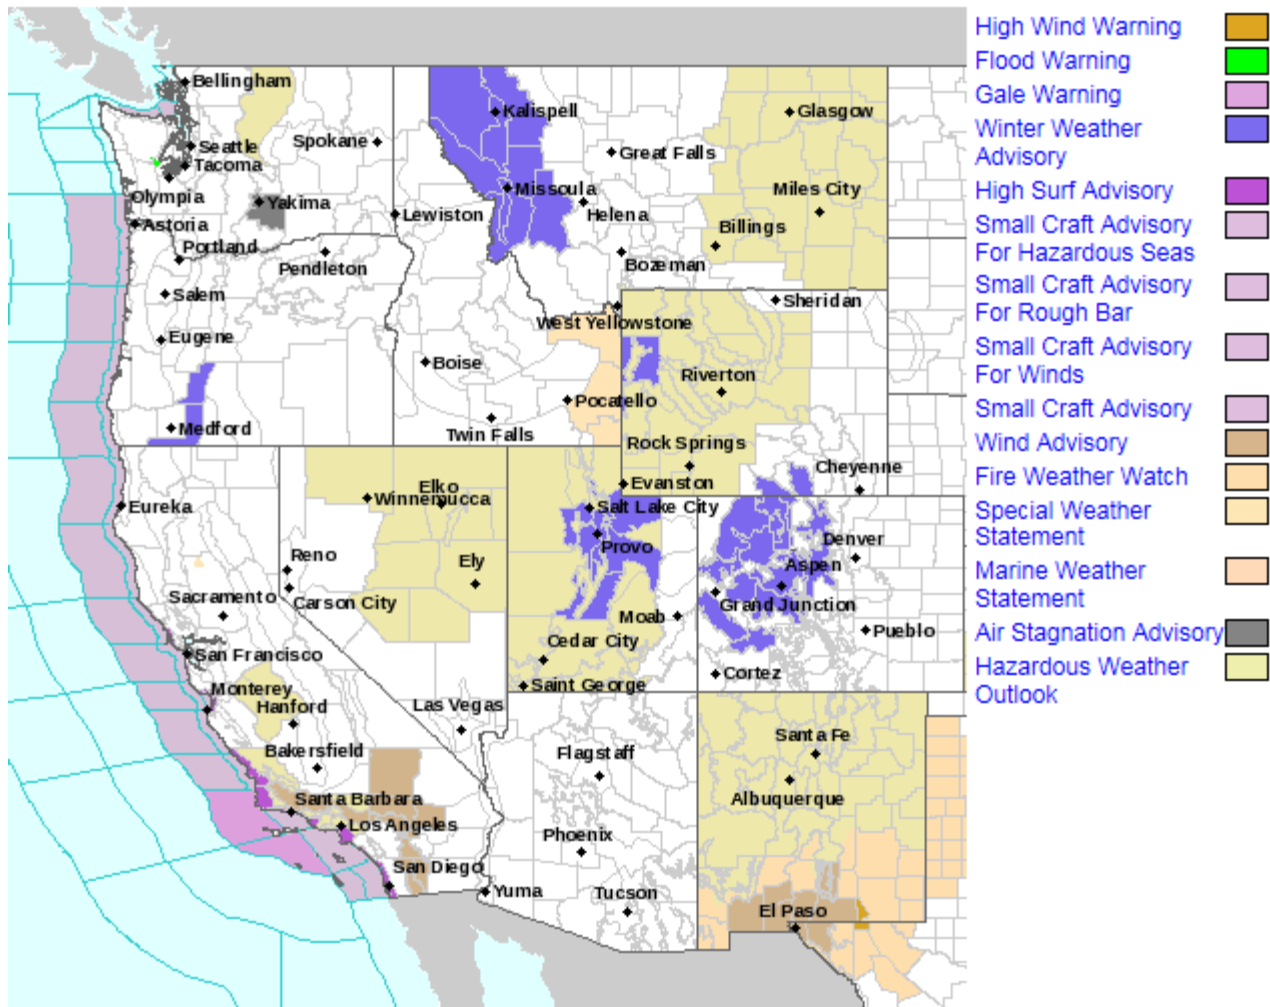

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

Showers and thunderstorms today as the low pressure area moves out of the area. Sunday a weak front will bring showers mainly to the mountains. A weak high pressure will be off the coast Monday through Thursday. For the most part the north state will be partly to mostly sunny, except for late Tuesday and Wednesday when a weak frontal system will brush the north end of the state with a few clouds and a chance of showers on the north coast and near the Oregon border. Friday a slightly stronger frontal system will bring a chance of light precipitation to all of the north state.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

A few showers may linger in some areas this evening and on the northern slopes through early Sunday, otherwise, dry weather is expected tonight through next week. Gusty northwest winds will affect portions of the region through tonight, then gusty northeast winds will affect parts of the region Sunday through Tuesday. A warming trend is expected to begin Tuesday. Above normal temperatures in most areas Wednesday through Friday.
